

NORA

NEAL-DAGGETT

Speaker • Writer • Loss Navigator

Nora Neal-Daggett is the expert on overcoming heartache and disappointment, and she has a passion to help others navigate the thorny path of loss. Her faithful message to the world is "Loss is a station in life, not a destination." With deep insight, empathy and compassion, Nora constructs the path that will move the audience from mourning to joy. By learning the practice of prayer and trusting God, the willing participant will be given the necessary elements to move through pain and heartache to acceptance and healing.

Nora engages her audience through scriptural lessons, real-life examples, and gentle humor, intricately weaving true life stories with the evidence of our Creator's grace and mercy. She is a deeply talented faith-based presenter who is available to speak to your Christian organization about grief and life transitions. When you're dealing with loss...call Nora.

"Loss is a station in life, not a destination."

Cruise Planner

"I just wanted to say thank you for connecting me with Ms. Nora. It was a wonderful conversation and I'm blessed to know I have another intercessor praying on my behalf. The conversation was really affirmation and confirmation for me. I've been thinking about how I can help those who are grieving and she modeled what that can possibly look like."

Rev. Stephen Ivey

"Her gift for the spoken word and keen ability to relate and show empathy help people to move through difficulty."
